eldenring.idolhub.co.kr It's pretty amazing how Elden Ring was able to completely rework fantasy game to feel more like an RPG, where instead of building up character to engage in combat, you have to pursue special abilities and outthink your enemies. You can see them in the Battlemap as well as the portraits. This is one of my favorite games that I've played on the switch. My only disappointment in this game is the drop rate of the Elden Rings. Also as an aside, I feel like the achievements and the challenge modes are somewhat under-achieved here. It's a bit easy to unlock the achievements and completing the most difficult of these really don't provide much challenge. I'm glad that Blizzard is giving us a chance to interact more with their characters. And I'm bff6bb2d33
